SEPTEMBER.

Now comes to us September fair,
As fair as June,
With cloudless skies and balmy air
And harvest moon.

The pretty school ma'am, back to school,
Resumes her duty,
Sun-tanned, like troutlet from a pool,
A speckled beauty.

The little boy has put away
His lines and hooks,
And with a visage far from gay,
Resumes his books.

The days are glad with breeze and sun,
The nights are bright and clear,
The cool September has begun,
Another June is here.

LETTERS OF ACCEPTANCE.

Democratic Candidates.

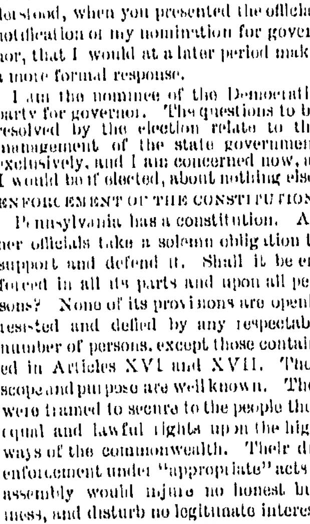
A Ringing Deliverance From Hon. Chauncey F. Black on the Political Questions of the Hour—The Views of Ricketts, Brennen, Africa and Stevenson.

The following letters have been addressed by the nominees of the Democratic state convention of Pennsylvania to Hons. D. Ermentrout, Eckley B. Coxe, Geo. A. Allen, James A. Stranahan, A. H. Coffroth, Charles F. McKenna, B. J. McGrann, H. W. Scott and Dallas Sanders—the committee appointed to notify them:



MR. BLACK'S LETTER.

YORK, PA., September 16th, 1886.

GENTLEMEN:—I desire to acknowledge again, in this more public manner, the courtesy with which you have discharged the duty imposed upon you by the Democratic convention. It was understood, when you presented the official notification of my nomination for governor, that I would at a later period make a more formal response.

I am the nominee of the Democratic party for governor. The questions to be resolved by the election relate to the management of the state government exclusively, and I am concerned now, as I would be if elected, about nothing else.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE CONSTITUTION.

Pennsylvania has a constitution. All her officials take a solemn obligation to support and defend it. Shall it be enforced in all its parts and upon all persons? None of its provisions are openly resisted and defied by any respectable number of persons, except those contained in Articles XVI and XVII. Their scope and purpose are well known. They were framed to secure to the people their equal and lawful rights upon the highways of the commonwealth. Their due enforcement under "appropriate" acts of assembly would injure no honest business, and disturb no legitimate interest. On the contrary, it would promote the welfare of the entire people, including that of the shareholders of the transportation companies themselves. Their best interests are intimately associated with the general interests of the commonwealth, under whose wise policy they are created, regulated, and protected. The hand which breaks the sanctity of law in one case weakens it in all. The aggressor who defies the constitution to seize a wrongful advantage to-day, invokes it tomorrow for his own protection. Least of all can corporations, in the enjoyment of public grants for public purposes, afford to disregard its wholesome restrictions. To do so is almost necessary to arouse among freemen a spirit which may seek, and, in numerous instances, has sought, reclamation by proceedings as little in accord with fundamental law and vested rights as those which provoked it. We propose to hold the shield of the constitution over all alike; and behind it there is no place for extortion on the one hand or for confiscation on the other. The articles in question must be enforced. The people are determined that they shall be and that the abuses which they were intended to correct shall cease. On this important subject there has never been any doubt about the attitude of the Democratic party, and I believe I am its nominee to-day, principally because there is no doubt about mine. And in this we are happily not alone. Every party but one, offering state candidates at the pending election, concurs with ours in the demand for enforcement of those provisions, and the election of a legislature which will pass the "appropriate legislation."

LABOR AND CAPITOL.

The enforcement of the articles of the constitution relative to railroads, telegraphs, and canals would in itself afford a large measure of relief to the productive industries of the state, and to the manual laborers employed in them. But the latter require more than this. They have special grievances demanding special remedies. Upon some of them the convention spoke freely and unequivocally, and in accepting the nomination, I, of course, accepted the platform. Should I be elected, I would invite the cordial co-operation and the considerate advice of the duly appointed representatives of all labor organizations in the state, with reference, not merely to the rights, but to the needs, of their people. Through a long series of years their influence has scarcely been perceptible in our legislation. While the lobbies swarmed with the well-paid and expert agents of other interests, the laborer labored on in his vocation, trusting to the honor of his official representatives. The result is a mass of laws in which every interest but his is carefully provided for; while he is cunningly restricted in the most important concerns of his life. Others may combine to limit production and suspend his employment; to raise the prices of the necessaries of life or to lower the wages which purchase them; but should he combine with his fellows to market his labor at better rates he is too frequently charged with disorders for which he is not primarily responsible; prosecuted under laws which are but a slight modification of the barbarous conspiracy laws; confronted by police representing the employer, instead of the public authority; and not unfrequently he is cast adrift, while imported laborers, aliens to his blood and country, are brought forward to take his job and eat the bread of his children. He sees the wealth of the country increasing in a ratio almost appalling; but he also sees it concentrating in the hands of a very few, and he knows there is something essentially wrong in these laws which permit such a division of the common produce of capitol and labor. What he wants principally is a free field and a fair one; a repeal of the laws which circumscribe him, with a careful revision, followed by a vigilant enforcement of those which protect his life and health while at work, and insure him the regular payment of his earnings in honest cash.

Some time since I was appealed to by miners in the Monongahela valley to aid them in securing the appointment of coal and iron policemen, who might be employed, in the interest of the men, to protect them against systematic swindling by false weighing on the tipples. They said that such plundering of the workmen was systematic and extensive, and was the main cause of the disastrous strike then prevailing in that region. But when I came to examine the law I found that the governor might appoint any number of those peculiar coal and iron policemen, at the instance, in the pay and for the exclusive purposes of the employers, but not one for the benefit of the men, however clear the necessity or urgent the appeal. This is a practical illustration of what I mean when I say that the laborers' interests have been studiously and cruelly subordinated to the interests of others.

During the past year Pennsylvania, in common with many other states, has felt profoundly, and to her sore cost, the throes of labor madly seeking the betterment of its condition, with the redress of wrongs known to exist, the remedies for which are but vaguely understood. The losses inflicted by these recurring struggles are simply tremendous and incalculable. They fall heavily upon all classes, and upon none more heavily than the workingmen themselves. Must they go on forever? Such wide tumults among men ordinarily sober and industrious, such vast sacrifices of bread and peace by multitudes of intelligent and orderly citizens, are not without grave cause. I believe they will cease, and cease only when the wage-earner is placed upon the dead level of legal equality with the wager payer, at every stage and in every particular of the several transactions between them. Men of conservative minds have witnessed the beneficial results of the progress of labor in self-organization, with intense satisfaction. Such organization, completed and perfected, promises apparently justice, order, and repose to all the interests concerned. Why not give to it the sanction of the law and the protection of the state?

Incorporation may prove to be the simple but beneficient expedient of which all modern society appears to be in common search. The remedy for all public and private wrongs must be in the law; and industry organized under the law, and with the protection of the law that is given to capital, would find its own safety in the just restraints of the law, which make the rights of person and property sacred under our free institutions.

THE BURDEN ON REAL ESTATE.

Like the men who work for daily or weekly wages, the agricultural people, with even less excuse for the dereliction, have neglected the care of their own interests; and by reason of protracted failure to employ the necessary instrumentalities of mutual organization and representation in the government, they find the burdens of the state resting more heavily upon their fields than upon any other form of property of equal value. While their lands are depreciated, and their produce undersold in their own markets, in consequence of discrimination against local freights, the revenue and tax law are made to bear upon them with undue and excessive exactions.

THE PROHIBITION ISSUE.

There is, I believe, but one other distinct question of state policy involved in the election of this year. One of the political parties has avowed its purpose to pass through two successive legislatures, and submit to the people a constitutional amendment forbidding the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors in this commonwealth. A third party, constituting in themselves that "respectable portion of the people" referred to by the others in their platform, insist upon immediate and total prohibition by legislative enactment, without waiting upon the needless and tedious process of amendment. Neither of these parties looks toward indemnification for the large amounts of private property which must be measurably destroyed by the enactment of such a law or the adoption of such an amendment. The Democratic party has, on the other hand, from its formation, consistently opposed sumptuary laws, "which vex the citizen and interfere with individual liberty."

But this denial of the right of prohibition implies the duty of regulation; and though the just power of the state does not extend to the prescription of the drink, diet or dress of the individual man, it does extend to the prevention of any abuse of his private right affecting his neighbor or society at large; and I favor the enactment of any laws, however stringent, which may be necessary to that purpose, and, in any event, the rigid enforcement of those now in existence. Conscious of the terrible evils of excessive indulgence, we do not attempt to eradicate them by a species of legislation which has never failed to increase them, but which inevitably brings on the desperate resistance of the citizen, who feels himself deprived of a natural right, and with it a train of illicit crimes and ruinous disorders. I cannot better conclude this paragraph than by the following passage from the hand of the illustrious Tilden:—

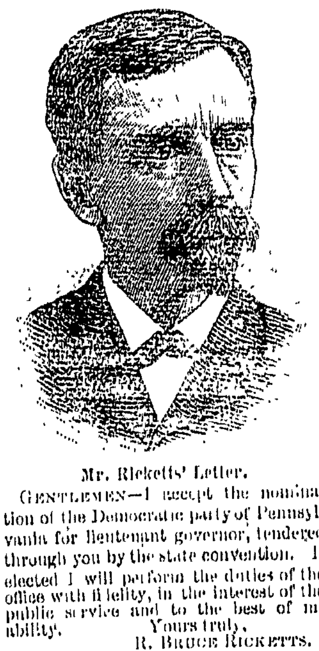
"Such legislation springs from a misconception of the proper sphere of government. It is no part of the duty of the state to coerce the individual man except so far as his conduct may affect others, not remotely and consequentially, but by violating rights which legislation can recognize and undertake to protect. The opposite principle leaves no room for individual reason and conscience, trusts nothing to self-culture, and substitutes the wisdom of the Senate and Assembly for the plan of moral government ordained by Providence. The whole progress of society consists in learning how to attain, by the independent action or voluntary association of individuals, those objects which are at first attempted only through the agency of government and in lessening the sphere of legislation and enlarging that of the individual reason and conscience. Our American institutions have recognized this idea more completely than it has yet been recognized by the institutions of any other people, and the Democratic party has generally been the faithful guardian of its progressive development. * To-day, while it is in favor of sobriety and good morals, it disowns a system of coercive legislation which cannot produce them but must create many serious evils, which violates constitutional guarantees and sound principles of legislation, invades the rightful domain of the individual judgment and conscience, and takes a step backward toward that barbarian age when the wages of labor, the prices of commodities, a man's food and clothing, were dictated to him by a government calling itself paternal."

AN APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

These appear to me to be the definite issues to be determined by the election. They are none of them partisan questions. They concern deeply and vitally the most important interests of society, and each of them involves the permanent welfare of entire classes of our people. Will the voters permit merely partisan considerations to determine their action upon them? I cannot think so. They have heretofore shown that when parties have fallen under corrupt or reckless control, and a supreme public necessity arose, they knew how to assert the sovereign power of an enlightened people. They did so when the constitution was adopted, notwithstanding the resistance of the same political combinations and the same monopoly interest which now obstruct its enforcement. They did so four years ago, when they found it imperatively necessary to rescue the commonwealth from unworthy hands. They have had no occasion to regret the largely non-partisan decisions then rendered. On the contrary, the new constitution has proved an unmixed blessing in just so far as it has been respected and obeyed, and the Democratic executive brought into power by the independent action of a great number of citizens has given us an honest, frugal, and irreproachable administration. It cannot be supposed they will now go to the polls and deliberately decree a relapse to the servitude of the past. The personal characters of candidates, so they be commonly respectable, should be but lightly weighed against questions of such gravity. The best men are sometimes sunk into abject helplessness by adverse surroundings. The last governor of Pennsylvania but one, the intellectual peer of any who ever occupied the place, moved by a sense of "self-respect" and patriotic duty, sounded "a note of warning to the whole people" against the choice of a chief magistrate owing allegiance to any power but that of the people, and especially against any one under the malign influences which, in spite of his nobler instincts, had succeeded in obstructing and perverting his administration.

It was a warning to be remembered.

Very sincerely yours,
CHAUNCEY F. BLACK.



Mr. Ricketts' Letter.

GENTLEMEN—I accept the nomination of the Democratic party of Pennsylvania for lieutenant governor, tendered through you by the state convention. If elected I will perform the duties of the office with fidelity, in the interest of the public service and to the best of my ability.

Yours truly,
R. BRUCE RICKETTS.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., Sept. 11.

Mr. Brennen's Letter.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Sept. 15, 1886.

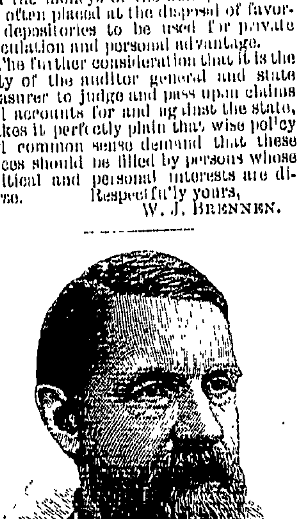
GENTLEMEN: I beg leave to formally accept the nomination tendered, and if elected I will discharge the duties of the office with fidelity, and to the best of my ability.

In considering this nomination for auditor general, I have been impressed with the importance of the office and how carefully the framers of the constitution and the legislature have been to secure as far as possible a separation of interest and independence of policy between the auditor general and the state treasurer, the latter being the receiving and disbursing officer, and the former the accounting officer of the commonwealth. The intended divorce of these offices is plainly shown in the law fixing that their concurrent election shall be only every sixth year.

The auditor general is or should be a sentinel at the door of the state treasury. Upon his vigilance and fidelity in no small degree depend the honest accounting for the revenues of the state and the faithful enforcement of its fiscal laws. He and the state treasurer, together with the secretary of the commonwealth, constitute the commissioners of the sinking fund, authorized to dispose of the balance remaining in the sinking fund in excess of the amount required to pay the interest on the public debt. They control the moneys of the state, which are too often placed at the disposal of favored depositories to be used for private speculation and personal advantage.

The further consideration that it is the duty of the auditor general and state treasurer to judge and pass upon claims and accounts for and against the state, makes it perfectly plain that wise policy and common sense demand that these offices should be filled by persons whose political and personal interests are diverse.

Respectfully yours,
W. J. BRENNEN.



Mr. Africa's Letter.

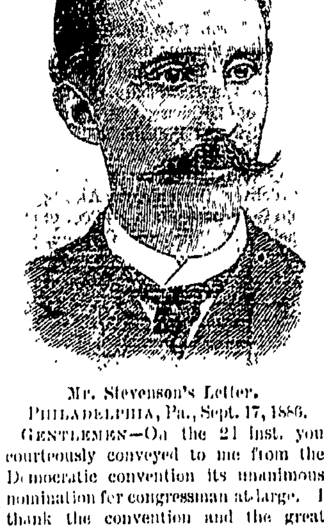
HUNTINGTON, Pa., Sept. 11, 1886.

GENTLEMEN—In reply to your official notification of my nomination for secretary of internal affairs by the Democratic state convention which met at Harrisburg, on the 18th ult., I beg leave to say that I accept.

The department of internal affairs, created by the constitution of 1873, succeeded to the custody of the records and intricate duties of the surveyor general's office which pertained to the public surveys and original titles to lands throughout the commonwealth. It embraces, also, a bureau of industrial statistics, charged among other duties, with that of impartially inquiring "into the relations of capital and labor, in their bearings upon the social, educational and industrial welfare of all classes of working people and to offer practical suggestions for the improvement of the same." Annual reports are compiled and published of the assessments of taxable property, the wages of labor, the productive statistics of mining, manufacturing and other industries, and of the operations and affairs of the railroad, canal, navigation, telegraph and telephone corporations of the commonwealth.

Service in the department at duties made familiar by many years of practical experience in kindred professional pursuits, warrants me in stating that if this nomination should be ratified by the voters at the next election, the duties incumbent upon the secretary of internal affairs will be performed with fidelity.

I am, gentlemen, very respectfully yours,
J. SIMPSON AFRICA.



Mr. Stevenson's Letter.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Sept. 17, 1886.

GENTLEMEN—On the 21 inst. you courteously conveyed to me from the Democratic convention its unanimous nomination for congressman at-large. I thank the convention and the great party represented by it for this distinguished mark of confidence and favor. I accept the nomination because it comes from the Democratic party in response to an almost universal request of the workingmen of Pennsylvania.

I favor a tariff upon imports, with the clear understanding that it shall be protective to labor and capital alike, securing the manufacturer against cheap foreign competition, and the wage-earner against cheap foreign immigration; and to that end I will advocate such a wise and judicious revision and regulation of import duties as shall insure to the wage-earner his equitable proportion of all tariff duties levied for revenue or protection.

The question of a tariff is so broad and deep, and there are so many varied interests to be considered, that its unintelligent agitation should be avoided. It is a great business problem that ought to be solved by a body of experts drawn from every trade, industry and productive interest. Capital and labor should be properly represented and the fullest and best evidence upon every part of the case should be adduced. A wise revision of the existing tariff would thus be settled upon the basis of sound financial principle, and the question of revenue divorced from mere party politics.

The operations of the "Bureau of Labor," established by Congress in 1884, ought to be enlarged and perfected; especially in view of subsequent events and recent experience.

Should your nomination result in my election, I can only say that I will endeavor to represent the great interests of Pennsylvania with all the earnestness of my lifelong convictions as a Democrat, and with my best efforts to promote the welfare of those of my fellow-citizens who belong to the labor and producing forces of the state.

Very respectfully,
MAXWELL STEVENSON.

The War of the Roses.

At the gubernatorial discussion at Athens, Tennessee, last week, between the Taylor brothers, the Hon. Robert L. Taylor, the Democratic nominee, alluded to the contest as "the war of the roses," and the expression was promptly caught up by the crowd. It furnished the proper campaign insignia. At once the red rose became the badge of the Republicans and the white rose the emblem of Democracy. It spread like wildfire, and within forty eight hours these historic decorations were worn in rosettes from one end of the State to the other. The ladies, too, are flying the colors of their choice. So it is now a double campaign, roses and fiddles, and all canopied over by the best of good fellowship and fraternal rivalry.

An incident Tuesday night, while the brothers were at Bridgeport, illustrates the spirit of the canvass from the matron's standpoint. They went arm in arm to the same bed. As they came down to breakfast next morning the hotel proprietor's wife, a smiling old lady of sixty, approached them with a bunch of the rival roses in each hand and said: "Col. Bob and Col. Alf, I'm not a politician, and I don't know anything about politics, but I want you to accept these flowers because it makes my mother's heart glad to see two brothers making a canvass against each other and yet treating each other as lovingly as they tell me you two do. Let me see you shake hands before you go." They took the flowers, shook as desired, and laughingly took the train for Tullahoma, the next speaking point.

"PLEASE be sworn," said the justice to the man in overalls.

"What's that, Jedge?" was the response.

"I want you to swear before you give evidence."

"Waal, now, that's oncommon accommodatin', but I can't do a real good job of swearnin' like I uster when I druv mules. I'm a leetle rusty, but ef you'll kindly start me off, Jedge, I'll be obleeged to ye."

The crowd laughed derisively. "What is the one thing?" asked one of the crowd. "The distance is too fur fer the time."

"THE SON OF HIS FATHER."

A Few Words in Response to a Republican Sneer.

The Carlisle Herald, in speaking of the Democratic candidate for Governor, says that the best that can be said of him is "that he is the son of his father." Sage conclusion! It is to be hoped that our able contemporary is fully satisfied on this point—Chauncey F. Black, the son of Jeremiah S. Black. What does this include? First, that the Democratic candidate for Governor is the residuary legatee of all that was great and good in his father—the most distinguished statesman and jurist of his day. A man whose eminent ability in his chosen profession has adorned the pages of jurisprudence wherever the English language is spoken. "The son of his father!" Yes the beneficiary of that father's care, of his example in childhood, in early youth and the more mature years of robust manhood. The son of Jeremiah S. Black! The advantage of such a parentage and such an example, who can measure?

When Robert Lincoln was made Secretary of the War under President Garfield, the best that could be said of him was that he was the son of Abraham Lincoln. Did the Herald then sneeringly remark that the best that could be said of the new Secretary of War was that he was "the son of his father?" At that time Robt. Lincoln was an obscure lawyer in Chicago, and while it was the prestige of that father's name that made him Secretary of War, yet it is justice to him to say that he made a good officer and did credit to his administration, who, through the son, paid a high compliment to his distinguished sire.

John Quincy Adams, when but ten years of age, accompanied his distinguished father, then minister to the court of St. James, and the historian further adds that the earlier years of the younger Adams were spent mostly in foreign courts, and continues that the experience, training and education as well as association with the great men of his day, contributed largely to make him one of the most successful diplomatists of his age and generation. Association and example are wonderful educators, and when to this is added the parental care and solicitude of such a mind as the elder Black, what great stimulus, what moral restraint, what noble incentive to do and dare in all that contributes to upright, glorious manhood, than to be the son of such a father?

Not only in struggling manhood and the riper years of mature life, when his name and fame had become world wide, was the example of Jeremiah S. Black worthy of imitation and a stimulus to all young men for a purer, higher life; but when disease had wasted the energies of his body, and racking pains made life a burden, what a fitting example from father to son! What more valuable heritage, what more impressive and lasting influence could a father bequeath than the dying faith of the lamented Black?

"Oh, thou beloved and most merciful Father, from whom I had my being, and in whom I have ever trusted, if it be Thy will, grant that I no longer suffer this agony, and that I be speedily called home to Thee."

Yes, the standard-bearer of the Democratic party in Pennsylvania, "is the son of his father," and the Democracy have done a noble act in thus keeping in living rememberance the name and fame of the illustrious sire by honoring the son.

The name and fame of the great jurist was not the only inducement that led to the nomination of the son. Chauncey F. Black is "a worthy son of a noble sire," and in him the Democracy have a candidate that has profited by the example of his father, and by years of close personal application to the doctrines of Jeffersonian Democracy and the affairs of State, he is well calculated to give the people of this Commonwealth a State administration that will be a fit counterpart of the present, (pure, economical and just to all) but one likewise that will add new lustre to the name he bears, and which will be "worthy the son of so illustrious a sire."—Carlisle Sentinel.

SEE TO IT!—An incorrect impression prevails that Monday, October 4, is the last day upon which to pay a State or county tax in order to vote at the fall election. This is an error. Saturday, October 2, is the last day. See that every Democrat in your district has his tax receipt before that time.

WILL NOT SUPPORT BEAVER.—Ex-Councilman P. Magee, of Pittsburg, in a published card, over his own signature, says: "I am a Republican, and believe in every man having his equal rights. I am also against any sumptuary laws. I cannot vote for James A. Beaver for next Governor of the State of Pennsylvania. I fought in the Union army for the protection of the dear old flag, and am a friend of the colored man, and believe he is entitled to all the privileges of any other citizen. And I don't believe a man like Beaver ought to be elected Governor of Pennsylvania."

Col. Norman M. Smith, commander of the Eighteenth Regiment, N. G. of Pa., Pittsburg, and a Republican, declares publicly that he will not support Beaver for Governor. A majority of the other Republican members of that Regiment will likewise vote against Beaver.

THE Clearfield Democrat, published at the home of Senator William A. Wallace, says: "Although our choice was William A. Wallace for Governor, we preferred Hon. Chauncey F. Black for a second choice in preference to any other candidate named. Mr. Black is the son of that able and distinguished jurist, Jeremiah S. Black, of York county, and for the last four years has served the people of Pennsylvania in the capacity of Lieutenant-Governor. As President of the Senate he has proven to the people that he is a man of more than ordinary ability and a non-partisan. His rulings were always fair and seldom objected to. Chauncey F. Black will perpetuate the name of his father as the next Governor of Pennsylvania."

SILENT.—Although no greater legal and moral crime was ever perpetrated within the borders of the Commonwealth than the transactions of the Orphans' School Syndicate, yet, the resolves of the Republican State Convention never condescended to notice the crime. Why a band of "moral idea" venders should keep silent under such circumstances is incomprehensible to us. —Clearfield Republican.

◆

OF COURSE.—As the Baltimore Sun says, friends of Mr. Blaine since the victory of Senator Edmunds in Vermont are asserting that he had nothing to do with the movement to prevent the return of Mr. Edmunds to the Senate, but the Edmunds people do not seem to put much faith in this assertion, and somewhat scornfully declare that had Mr. Edmunds been defeated the Blaine organs would have ground out a very different tune.

SATURDAY!—SATURDAY NEXT!

The Senator's Dinner.

It's only about twice a year, remarked State Senator William D. Mason the other day to an Arkansaw Traveler reporter, that I'm smart enough to fool my wife. Last Monday I played a trick that ought to serve as a capital suggestion for other husbands to conduct operations on. Along about 4 o'clock in the afternoon I began to get faint and hungry. I had been working hard all day and was as famished and as fagged as a hunted wolf. As I sat in my office chair wondering what I was going to find for dinner when I got home, an entirely new and brilliant idea flashed upon me. It broke upon my intellect much as a stray plank dances before the vision of a drowning man. It made my mouth fairly water as it developed its details in my greedy brain. I made a bee line for the telephone and called the central office.

"Give me 5,568," said I, and then I chuckled all over and my mouth kept on watering.

"Bur-r-r" went the telephone. I put my mouth close to the funnel and in a shrill, falsetto voice, asked: "Is that Senator Mason's house?"

"Yes," came the answer and I recognized my wife at the other end of the wire.

"Is the Senator home?" I asked in the same feminine voice.

"No," was the reply.

"Well, then, is Mrs. Mason there?" I inquired.

"Yes, I am Mrs. Mason," was the answer.

"Oh, is that you?" I cried; "how do you do?"

"Why, how do you do?" responded my wife; but I knew by her tones that she hadn't the remotest idea who she was talking to.

"How are all the children?" I asked.

"They are all very well," said wife.

"Well," said I, "I happened to be in town shopping to day, and I thought I'd go over to your house to dinner."

Well, that sort of staggered my wife. She mustered up voice enough to ask:

"Who are you?"

Then I answered:

"Why don't you recognize the voice? I'm Mrs. Mya-yah!"

"I don't catch the name—speak louder!" she pleaded.

"Mrs. Mya-yah!" I repeated and with that in order to preclude all embarrassing complications I shut off the telephone as tight as I could. Then I threw myself into a chair and laughed till I like to went into apoplexy. Laugh? Well, you ought to have seen the plastering fall around me! But to make a long story short, I reached home about 5 15 and of all the dinners I ever clapped eyes on—gosh! it was a banquet! Wife had her new black silk dress on, and she had slicked the children up so that I could hardly identify them.

"I think we'd better wait dinner awhile, dear," said wife.

"Why so?" I asked. "Bless, you, I'm as hungry as an alligator."

Then wife told me she was expecting a lady guest, and she repeated the details of the telephone in the afternoon. It was a fearful ordeal, but I managed to look innocent, and of course I wondered who the lady could be.

"Indeed, I don't know," said wife, "but her voice was strangely familiar. I've been puzzling myself to death trying to guess who it was."

Well, we waited fifteen minutes and then we sat down to the banquet—and a royal feast it was. We had soup and fish and a big roast, and about a dozen little side dishes and wife sent out and bought a gallon of pink ice cream and a frosted cake for desert. I stood it just as long as I could. When it came to the thick ice cream I couldn't stand it any longer. As I was slicing it off I looked at wife kind of sideways and said in a falsetto voice:

"My dear, I'm sorry Mrs. Mya-yah didn't come."

Wife dropped her Dresden china cup as if she'd been paralyzed.

"William E. Mason—you brute," she gasped.

The children enjoyed the joke just as much as I did—yes, and wife, too, got to laughing about it after awhile. Our boy Louis said: "Do it again, pa; it's mighty jolly to have a big dinner once in a while."

THE other evening a Boston policeman heard a whistle shrilly blown and a female voice calling for help, and after a short run he reached the scene of commotion. A man was getting up and falling down again on the door steps, and a female had her head out of an upper window and seemed to be half scared to death.

"What's the matter?" asked the officer.

"A man has been kicking on the door," she answered.

"This man here?"

"Yes. I thought he'd tear the whole house down."

The officer reached for the man, and made two discoveries at once. It was the woman's husband, and he was fighting drunk.

"Why this man wouldn't hurt you—he's your husband," he called out.

"Is that so? Charles, is that you?"

"Bet your life's smee," mumbled Charles.

"Then you really must excuse me, Mr. Officer. You see, we have only been married six weeks and I do not readily recognize him yet. I'll be down in a minute, darling."

TWO TRUE TALES.—A 3-year-old who had been watching some men at work on a gas ditch and heard one of them swear, walked into the house, pulled himself up to his full height and exclaimed, "Dood Dod."

Mother—"Why, James, you must not speak that way."

Three year-old—"Dod is dood, isn't he, mamma?"

Mother—"Yes, James, but you must not speak in that way about him."

That night Master James did not want to go to bed and to sleep, being somewhat afraid. His mother expostulated with him and asked him if he did not know that God would care for good little boys.

James—"Oh, yes, I know all about that, but then I mustn't say anything about him, you know."

DISCOVERIES IN ALASKA.

The New York Times has performed a most notable public work in sending an expedition for exploration purposes into Alaska. This enterprising newspaper fitted out at great expense an exploring party under the command of Lieutenant Schwatka, the famous Arctic explorer, and it is gratifying to be able to report the big success of the undertaking.

In a letter to the Times from Sitka, Lieutenant Schwatka gives a graphic description of the St. Elias Alps, and in particular Mount St. Elias, which was ascended to the height of 7,200 feet, a feat never attempted before. These hardy explorers penetrated a region never before trodden by man, and encountered glaciers 50 miles long and 1,000 feet thick. A river was discovered that was a mile and a half in width and which was appropriately named Jones river, after the liberal projector of the enterprise.

Some of the curious facts gathered by the exploring party are worth noting. Along the river banks, filled with icy water from the glaciers, could be found fine prairie land with heavy grass, strawberry patches loaded with fruit and many pretty clumps of evergreen trees. The general belief that mosquitoes have their home in New Jersey has been dissipated by the Alaska narrative, for mosquitoes and gnats were everywhere most tormenting; even on the ice of the wide glaciers, miles from vegetation.

President Cleveland will have his name carried down in the geographies of the future by the title of Cleveland Peak, given to one of the newly discovered snow-capped ranges, and Secretary Whitney will enjoy a similar distinction.

This expedition will be most beneficial in enlightening the people of the United States concerning one of their newest and least known possessions. It was purchased from Russia in 1867 for $7,200,000, when it was in a fairly prosperous condition. Then it was overrun by adventurers, the reaction came and its last condition was worse than its first. Now it is taking a second forward step. The knowledge that it has a good soil and climate; that its fishing and fur interests are of large and ever increasing magnitude; and that, finally, the United States are ready to develop this addition to their territory will stimulate immigration thither that will eventually bring to Alaska substantial prosperity.

A Second Samson.

I propose to give a short sketch of the life of a man who was little known outside of the village of Granville Corners, in Washington county, where he was born and spent most of a long life, says a writer in the Troy Times. It is known of him, and can be proved, that he has performed feats of strength unsurpassed by any man that has lived in ancient or modern times, excepting, of course, the Biblical Samson.

His name is or was Stearn Carpenter, his occupation was that of a farmer. Being naturally of a very quiet, peaceable disposition and a member of the Society of Friends, he never did anything for display to attract attention, but the feats of strength that he performed were done more to satisfy himself and to see how much he could lift than anything else. All his lifting was done by main strength without harness of any kind.

One of his greatest feats was lifting a box filled with iron, which weighed 1,900 pounds, which is equal to lifting 38,000 pounds in harness. He lifted it with ease with his hands by grasping a rope or chain which was bound around the box to secure it. He did not know the weight of the box of iron at the time and was afterwards heard to say that had he known it weighed so near a ton he would have put on the other 100 pounds and lifted the whole.

At another time he lifted a cannon that weighed 1,400 pounds and shouldered it. At Comstock's Landing, on the Champlain canal near Whitehall, one day while waiting for a load of merchandise, he lifted a barrel of white lead with ease.

His neighbors, when killing hogs, if Stearn happened to be around, would ask him to guess the weight of a hog just killed. If it happened to be a big one, weighing 400 or 500 pounds, he would stoop down, twist his fingers in the bristles, and in that way would lift the carcass clear from the ground and guess on its weight.

He performed one of the greatest feats of strength on record after he had reached the age of seventy-five years. He lifted two twenty-four foot iron rails by grasping one in each hand, and walked off with them. The rails were resting on wooden horses, so he did not stoop down to lift them. One day in haying he was going from the field with his men to the house for dinner. They were walking along the road together when one of his men, for mischief, came up behind him, and by a skillful trip threw Carpenter down.

He gathered himself up and said nothing about it. He walked to the house, and after dinner, when returning to the field with his men, they came along to the place where the man gave him the fall. He suddenly turned upon the man, and, grasping him by the shoulders and the seat of his trousers, lifted him and hurled him high in the air above him and over a seven-rail fence by the side of which they happened to be walking. The man came down in the meadow a rod or more from the fence, considerably shaken up, but not badly hurt.

Mr. Carpenter was not a gigantic man in size. He was about six feet tall and appeared much less than that, owing to his massive build. There was no superfluous flesh upon him, but the muscles of his arms, shoulders and neck seemed to be piled upon him, so great was their size. This gave him a stooping appearance. In a crowd a casual observer would not be likely to pick him out for one of the strongest men that ever lived. Mr. Carpenter is living at the present time at Granville Corners, Washington county, N. Y., his old home, or was living the last I heard of him. He must be over eighty years of age.

THE COMPILER

FOR THE CAMPAIGN

Only Fifteen Cents.

SEND IN THE NAMES!

DEMOCRATS, don't get left by non-payment of taxes. Saturday next will be the last day to do it.

WRITE this down as history: "The Democratic party has always been the party of the people, considering their wants and providing for them."

THE Democrats of Adams must not forget that upon the vote for Chauncey F. Black for Governor will depend the number of Delegates chosen to the Democratic County Convention by each township, borough and ward of this county during the coming four years, the apportionment being made on the Governor vote. The turn out of Democrats should be as large as possible by reason of the solid merit of the whole Democratic ticket, but the bearing it will have upon nominations at home during the period stated should be a double argument. Let it be a grand rally along the whole line, and leave no regrets for want of activity or downright neglect.

EVERY voter of every party should read Chauncey F. Black's letter of acceptance. Such outspoken and statesmanlike papers are rare in any State, let alone in ours. The letter appears in full on first page.

THE Democrats of this county now have a full ticket to take care of and elect, but they must pay special attention to the Legislative candidates. Quay wants to go to the Senate, and if Republicans are again elected they will misrepresent the preference of our people just as they did two years ago by bowing to the dictation of the Republican machine. It is only by electing Dr. George L. Rice and W. Howard Dicks that Adams county will be accorded its proper place in the Assembly. Both are intelligent and reliable, and will act on all questions as their honest judgment shall suggest, and spurn the selfish commands of bosses. Rice and Dicks may be trusted in all contingencies, and they are the men all reflecting men should vote for.

HON. WM. A. WALLACE will address a Democratic mass meeting in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, on Saturday evening, October 9th. He means to take an active part in the campaign, as do all the Democratic leaders. Let the Democratic people show the same concern, and the result will be a glorious victory. The leaders cannot do all the work. The poorest and most humble in the ranks can help.

CHAIRMAN HENSEL will take the stump next week, beginning at Stroudsburg. Candidates Black and Ricketts will do their campaigning together. They will not visit county fairs or military encampments, but propose to get among the people at their homes. The list of speakers and their assignments has not been completed, as the chairman is waiting for a few remaining counties to organize, says the Times.

COL. VICTOR L. BAUGHMAN, of the Frederick Citizen, has received the unanimous nomination for Congress in that district. Mr. McComas, of Hagerstown, is the Republican candidate for the third time. The battle will be a hot one, and Col. Baughman will win it if any Democrat can. His friends are enthusiastic and express a strong degree of confidence in his success, which we most devoutly hope they may have the glory of celebrating.

AUSTIN D. CORBIN, of New York, has been elected President of the Reading Railroad Company, in place of F. B. Gowen, resigned. Mr. Corbin will qualify as soon as he can make his arrangements to reside in this State.

ARE Democratic Committeemen vigilant and active in seeing to the payment of taxes? They should make it a subject of inquiry and work throughout every district. Victories always depend upon the way the details of a campaign are attended to, and the responsibility of Democratic Committeemen is great in this regard. Disaster might come from its neglect. The Republicans are not idle, and they must not be treated as asleep. Quay has the Senatorial bee in his bonnet and will not allow his henchmen to have any rest.

SATURDAY NEXT will be the LAST DAY to pay a voting tax.

CHAIRMAN COOPER has sent out a campaign slip, for publication in Republican journals, declaring prohibition a failure and high license the only hope; for which he is soundly lectured by the Lancaster Inquirer and about told to shut up on "side-show" points.

GEN. BEAVER read a long and labored speech at Pittsburg on Saturday evening. It was no doubt written because Quay and Cooper have no faith in Beaver's discretion, and they wanted to know what he would say, and how he would say it, beforehand. The speech, in matter and manner, proved an utter failure on present issues, and intelligent members of his own party were ashamed of him.

GEN. Logan also disappointed the people at the same meeting, being unable or afraid to leave the "tariff" rut.

IS it any wonder that the people are satisfied with the Democratic administration? It is stated that the cost of the Star Route mail service during the last fiscal year was $5,414,804, a decrease of $62,623, or 1.57 per cent. as compared with the preceding fiscal year. The steamboat service was also reduced in cost during the year from $563,002 to $441,418, or a little over 20 per cent.

☞ LAST DAY—SATURDAY NEXT!

STRONG LEADERSHIP.

The letters of acceptance of the Democratic State candidates are printed on the first page. All cover the necessary ground and are in good taste; but that of Chauncey F. Black, who so worthily heads the ticket, calls for special consideration and admiration. As the Lancaster Intelligencer says it "is a ringing, fearless and explicit document," that will fill the demand for aggressive leadership, and by its frankness and clearness give assurance of sound statesmanship back of it all.

Beaver and Cooper may howl "tariff," but with that a gubernatorial candidate has nothing to do, and Mr. Black is not a demagogue to raise irrelevant issues or follow them when raised by others. There is nothing of inconsistency about him, nor of the brazen time-server.

It will be observed, as the same cotemporary remarks, that whilst he declares anew with vigor for the enforcement of the constitution by that appropriate legislation which has been denied the people by faithless representatives, he proposes to interpose the shield of the constitution before all the subjects of the law, and he proclaims that "behind it there is no place for extortion on the one hand or for confiscation on the other." If the corporations of the state or any other influence take issue with this statesmanlike statement of the question let them boldly avow; and the people of the state will settle the question once and for all.

Upon the labor question the letter is trenchant and comprehensive; it points out specific ills and suggests specific cures. Who will gainsay this part of the candidate's deliverance? He throws down the glove; let him who dares pick it up.

Mr. Black agrees with his party, and is in accord with its platform in declaring against prohibition and for regulation of the liquor traffic. He recognizes "the terrible evils of excessive indulgence," but "would not attempt to eradicate them by a species of legislation which has never failed to increase them, but which inevitably brings on the desperate resistance of the citizen who feels himself deprived of a natural right, and with it a train of illicit crimes and ruinous disorders." In this he will find himself entirely in accord with the great body of conservative people of the state; and if the Republican candidate hopes to profit from these declarations of his competitor he cannot do it by the evasions he has resorted to heretofore on this question.

It is the chief subject for congratulation that our candidate has opinions and the courage to avow them. His declaration is a novelty in Pennsylvania politics. It marks the strong man. It lifts the canvass to the level of his leadership, and where he goes no Democrat need fear to follow.

CONGRESSMAN SOWDEN carries Lehigh county by a majority of 726. Bucks has already instructed for him, which leaves Mr. Mutchler Northampton alone. Mr. Sowden had a terrible battle to fight, having to carry all the appointments made and not made in the district, with some "free trade" resentment thrown in.

THE Republicans of Philadelphia have nominated for the Common Pleas, Judges Allison, Pierce and Briggs, the last-named against the better sentiment of the party and amidst such "noise and confusion" as required the rushing in of the police. District Attorney Graham and Coroner Ashbridge were also renominated, as were Congressmen Bingham, O'Neill, Kelley and Harmer.

THE people of this state have often been betrayed by Republican legislatures. The only safety lies in making the majority Democratic.

IN two years the Republican vote in Maine has fallen off nearly 11,000, while the Democratic vote has fallen off less than 4,000. The New York Post asks: "If these things happen in a Republican stronghold like Maine, after a vigorous campaign conducted by the party's Presidential candidate in person, what are we to expect of the doubtful States?"

THE President and wife returned to Washington on Wednesday evening. In less than an hour he was in his office, with coat off, diving into accumulated correspondence. Verily, the President is a man of work.

GILBERT T. RAFFERTY, of Pittsburg, has been nominated for Congress, over Mr. Boyle and Mr. Latta, in the 21st district. The Boyle men are very much disappointed and threaten to bolt the nomination. Rafferty was a delegate in the National Convention that nominated Cleveland, and is a large coke operator in Westmoreland and Fayette counties.

HON. F. B. GOWEN will run as the Democratic candidate for Congress in the Schuylkill district, and be elected.

DEAR BEAVER: If you must talk, say something.

A SPLIT among the Prohibitionists in Lancaster county has forced Peter S. Goodman out of the chairmanship, and given the position to George M. Lefevre.

"TEXT."—The Savannah News says: The difference between the Northern and Southern Prohibitionists appears to be this: In the North they are after political power, with whisky as an issue, while in the South they are only anxious to suppress the whisky traffic by the force of public sentiment.

The "comment" comes quickly, as witness the following from the Philadelphia Times of Friday:

Prohibitionist Morgan, of Lackawanna, seems to have discovered the true inwardness of the bolt against Wolfe, which consists chiefly of Prohibitionists Nichols and Ricketts, of Luzerne, and Prohibitionist Goodman, of Lancaster, and the Wilkesbarre Watch-Fire, in which ex-Chairman Patton is said to own some stock. It is shown that every one of these men has a personal grievance. Nichols and Patton both wanted to be the candidate for Governor, and Ricketts has never forgiven Wolfe for sitting down on him when the Legislature was investigating Judge Harding, while Goodman is said to have admitted that the Republican managers offered him money to start the bolt, and Patton is also sore over his loss of the chairmanship.

THERE is only one sure way to do a duty, and that is to do it. Pay a voting tax not later than next Saturday.

SOME of the Republican newspapers of the state are gleefully quoting the New York Independent's obituary on the collapsed Prohibition party. It was not observed that any of them pointed with pride to the Independent when it recently declared that the Independent Republicans of Pennsylvania ought to vote for Wolfe to beat Beaver and rebuke Quay. —*Lanc. STAR-ROUTE Thomas J. Brady is now at his Virginia farm, down the Potomac, engaged in writing a book exposing the election frauds of Louisiana and Florida in 1876, and the investigation and trials of the Star-Route cases. He says he has shielded a lot of hypocrites and moral cowards long enough, and there is nothing for him to do but to publish the true inside history of those events. Its iniquities considered, is it not a most astounding wonder that the Republican party has been kept together so long? It is going now, however.

WHY should Democratic Prohibitionists vote for Wolfe when Republican Prohibitionists vote for Beaver? It is another of the hocus pocus games of the opponents of Democratic principles to reduce the Democratic vote and increase Republican chances. Such chaff cannot deceive any Democrat who will properly consider the trickery and treachery that have characterized the Republican party for the last twenty years. Democrats have only to keep their eyes and ears about them.

IT is gratifying to know that politically every thing is moving along harmoniously in our county. There is no doubt that the whole Democratic ticket will receive the full party vote, and the whole county ticket will be elected by an old time majority—says the Fulton Democrat.

DEATH OF BISHOP SHANAHAN.

The Right Rev. J. F. Shanahan, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Harrisburg, died very unexpectedly at Harrisburg, on Friday. On Thursday evening he took a drive with Father McBride and was cheerful and happy to the hour of retiring. But about 6 o'clock on Friday morning he had an acute attack of congestion of the brain, and a few hours later the prelate lapsed into unconsciousness and died. The news flew fast and was not at first credited at many points. The Philadelphia Times says:

Right Rev. Jeremiah Francis Shanahan, D. D., Bishop of the Suffragan See of Harrisburg, was one of the bright intellectual lights of the Roman Catholic Church in this country. He was universally beloved within the Church, and outside its bounds was esteemed for his many admirable qualities and his scholarly attainments. Though a comparatively young man he was prominently discussed as a probable successor to the late Archbishop Wood. He was born in Silver Lake township, Susquehanna county, in 1835, and his early schooling was in the Binghamton Academy, Binghamton, N. Y. Later he entered St. Joseph's College, at Choconut, Susquehanna county, where he pursued the study of the ancient languages and the higher English branches with great success, graduating with highest honors. He then entered the Seminary of St. Charles, Eighteenth and Race streets, in Philadelphia, where he completed his philosophical and theological course, and was admitted to holy orders in 1859. He was immediately elected as the rector of the Preparatory Seminary of St. Charles, at Glen Riddle, an unusual honor for one so young and due to his exceptional merits. This position he held up to 1868, when he was chosen by Pope Pius IX. as the first Bishop of the new See of Harrisburg, being at that time only 33 years of age. He was consecrated in July, 1868. Under Bishop Shanahan's administration the Diocese of Harrisburg has increased wonderfully in size and relative importance. The number of priests and churches has been largely augmented and the spiritual development of the diocese has kept pace with its material progress. As a pulpit orator, no less than for his remarkable administrative capacity, the dead prelate stood in the very front of the Roman Catholic clergy, and he was known throughout the country as a profound theologian.

THE funeral will take place at the Pro-Cathedral to-morrow morning, and promises to be the largest and most imposing ever seen in Harrisburg. Cardinal Gibbons, of Baltimore, will attend. Archbishop Ryan, of Philadelphia, will sing the Pontifical Mass of Requiem, and Bishop O'Hara, of Scranton, will probably deliver the eulogy. Among the bishops to be present are Mullen, of Erie; Phelan, of Pittsburg; Gilmore, of Cleveland; Pyan, of Buffalo; McQuade, of Rochester; Loughlan, of Brooklyn, and Archbishop Corrigan, of New York. Previous to the Mass the Office for the Dead will be said, and the remains will be deposited in a vault in the Pro-Cathedral Church-yard.

All the churches in the diocese over which the dead Bishop presided will be draped for thirty days and the Catholic schools will be closed until after the funeral.

St. Francis Xavier's church, in this place, has been draped very tastefully. Father Boll was a student at St. Charles Seminary under the now dead and lamented Bishop.

THE letter of acceptance of the Gubernatorial nomination of the Democratic Convention of Pennsylvania by Lieutenant Governor Black appears to have created an impression beyond the confines of his own State. In the doctrines it enunciates it is likely to become a feature in the policy of the Democratic party in other States—says a Washington correspondent of the Times.

BLAINE is to speak in Philadelphia October 6th. He can't help Beaver; past help.

BRIGADIER-GENERAL MILES is having a peculiarly disagreeable experience just now, notwithstanding the successful termination of his Indian campaign. The War Department officials have sharply rebuked him for accepting the surrender of the Apaches on conditions, although it is not yet proved that the report to that effect is correct. The acting secretary has telegraphed to him several times for a full account of the surrender, and the attending circumstances, but he has not yet complied with the demand for a report, although the last dispatch was of a very peremptory character. It is said he is having a bitter controversy with Major-General Howard, who claims that General Miles has acted in an insubordinate manner in not sending his reports through him instead of to the War Department direct.

IT is given out that Blaine will come to the aid of Boss Quay's ticket, and in view of that the Philadelphia Herald pertinently remarks: "Blaine holding one of Beaver's store orders in his hand and attempting to explain how Beaver issued them in order to save the sacred tariff will be a thrilling and interesting spectacle."

MAINE is a prohibition state and last year there were in Maine 1,014 retail liquor dealers and 7 wholesale dealers paying the United States internal revenue tax. They paid altogether over $26,000 for their licenses. They don't pay these large taxes unless there is big money in the rum business. This is why the reasonable man asks himself: "Will Prohibition prohibit?"—Lanc. Intel.

GEN. BEAVER is accredited by a Harrisburg interviewer, in speaking of his Bellefonte "pluck-me" store, with saying: "The store is for the accommodation of the workingmen and it is they who want the system now in vogue." Beaver evidently entertains a poor opinion of the reasoning faculties of the citizens of Pennsylvania. To assert that laboring men prefer store orders to cash in payment of wages is about equivalent to declaring that they would rather eat pills than peaches.—Greensburg Dem.

IT is found by the official returns of the late election in Arkansas that the Democratic majority is 37,000. This is 12,000 more than the first reports.

SENATOR MAHONE'S ambition is now said to be to fill the Governor's chair in Virginia. He'll never fill it.

IN slating his henchman and pal, A. Wilson Norris, for the nomination for Auditor General, Boss Quay knew his man. Should the people of the Commonwealth so far forget themselves as to elect Norris, then Quay will be able to manipulate the State moneys for his own use without hinderance. The situation will be even worse than that of the rascally Soldiers' Orphan School syndicate, that had one of its members, James L. Paul, as chief clerk in the Department of Public Instruction to pass favorably on the accounts of the "scoundrelly syndicate.—Greensburg Dem.

MR. ALBERT H. WALKER, a leading lawyer of Hartford, and heretofore an eminent Republican, has issued an address to the people of Connecticut, charging that Mr. C. P. Lowsnbury secured the Republican nomination for Governor of that State by bribery, and pledging himself to support the Democratic nominee, if an honest man honestly nominated.

CRATER lake in oregon is 2,000 feet deep.

ANOTHER!—The latest defalcation is that of George M. Bartholomew, president of the Charter Oak Life Insurance Company, of Hartford. The first account of the deficit in Bartholomew's cash account places it at $127,000, but fuller investigation will increase it, as is always the case. Mr. Bartholomew has had control of the affairs of the company for eight years and has never been required to make report to the directors. The only suitable comment upon such a gross defalcation of duty would be a suit against the negligent directors on the part of stockholders and creditors for the entire amount of the defalcation, whether it amount to $127,000 or three times that sum. The paper out bearing Bartholomew's name will amount to $2,000,000. He has gone to Canada.

A FAMILY MURDERED FOR MONEY.—A dispatch from Cuba, Missouri, dated Sept. 23, says: The James Davis farm, six miles east of here, Tuesday, was the scene of a horrible butchery. The farm is owned and occupied by Malcolm Logan and his family, consisting of his wife, a son six years old, a girl two years old, an infant of two months, and an adopted girl seven years old. During the night all were murdered and the dwelling consumed by fire. Yesterday morning the body of Mr. Logan was found upon the railroad one and a half miles from his home. The body was badly mangled by an east-bound train. His hat, scalp and skull all show that he was killed by a sharp instrument, probably a hatchet. The light of the burning house was first seen about 5 a. m., by a neighbor. Some charred remains of the inmates were discovered during the day. Logan's murdered wife was found near the door. There was a hatchet lying near and it is supposed that the same weapon was used to murder all the family. Mr. Logan was seen at work in his field late Tuesday evening and the common theory is that he was enticed from home on some pretense of needed assistance and was murdered for money supposed to be in his house, as it is known that he had lately received $1,300 for some land.

A later dispatch says that a railroad man named Wallace was arrested in St. Louis, Thursday night, charged with murdering Mr. and Mrs. Mat. Logan and their four children at Cuba, Missouri, early Wednesday morning.

DESPITE numerous publications to the contrary, the indications now are that there will be no contest over the will of the late Hon. Samuel J. Tilden. The two nephews, who are given by the will $75,000 each, have been interviewed, and whilst they confess disappointment at not coming in for a larger share of the fortune, they express a purpose not to interfere with the execution of the will. Other relatives who failed to realize their expectations in the will have, it is understood, come to the same conclusion.

NOTORIOUS FACTS.—The Buffalo Times comes to the front in this way: "Until the Democrats returned to power no government, no matter how weak or insignificant it was, released an American citizen unjustly or illegally held. Americans were confined in prison in Cuba, Hayti, Chili and England—one was brutally murdered—and the blatant Republicans did not secure the release of one. An American is only sure of being protected in his rights abroad while the Democrats have control of the Administration."

IF Beaver will promise to take store orders for fees, Governor Black may appoint him Justice of the Peace after the inauguration.—Patriot.

D. BLOCHER & CO

— MANUFACTURERS OF —

High Grade Superphosphate of Bone, Dissolved Raw Bone and Fine Ground Bone Meal.

Owing to the low price of Wheat, which necessarily makes times hard and money scarce with the farmer, and in order to lessen the expenses of raising Wheat, many of the farmers are wanting to buy a cheaper grade of Phosphate. In order to meet the demand Fertilizer Agents are offering the farmers Acid Phosphate, Soluble Bone Phosphate, Acidulated Phosphate and many other brands that are made entirely out of South Carolina Rock, and South Carolina is made from eleven hundred lbs. of South Carolina rock and nine hundred lbs. of Acid. Any Phosphate that has no Ammonia branded on the sacks and sold for less than twenty-five dollars per ton is South Carolina Rock. Bone Black and Bone Ash do not contain any ammonia and make a first-class Phosphate; but we never knew it to be offered to the farmers of this county, and could not be sold if pure for less than thirty dollars per ton. From the fact that South Carolina and all Acidulated Phosphates are nearly one-half Acid and their action on the soil that of a stimulant, it must certainly leave the soil the worse for its use. This being the fact, will it pay to use it? The Agents who are selling it tell you it will produce as good a crop as a higher priced Phosphate, but they forget to tell you that it will ruin your soil. The plant food in the South Carolina Rock is made available by the use of the Acid, and, like ashes, must leach out, leaving the South Carolina rock in the soil, while the farmer who uses a High Grade of Superphosphate, Dissolved Raw Bone or Fine Ground Bone will both get a good crop and improve his soil, as the Animal Bone rots or decays and in so doing makes earth, and in making earth makes plant food. Then, as Animal Bone does not stimulate, is it not cheaper to use Animal Bone or an Animal Bone Phosphate? It is the only true Fertilizer, though it costs more money per ton. Farmers had better use it than to use an article that will injure or impoverish the soil by its use. We call the attention of the farmer to our Fine Ground Bone, Dissolved Raw Bone and Potash and High Grade Superphosphate of Bone. Either one will insure you a full crop and leave the soil the better for its use. We shall continue to make a strictly first-class Phosphate, fine, dry and in the best of condition for the drill.

We have given the facts as to the different grades of Phosphate, and leave the farmer to decide for himself as to which he will use.

We will furnish the Acid or Acidulated Phosphate in small lots at the very lowest possible price, and where farmers will go together and buy a car load we will sell it for less than any Agent dare sell it.

To those who do their own mixing, we can furnish Dissolved Bone, Potash, Ammoniates or any other ingredient they may want. We would request that farmers who intend to use Phosphate on their fall seeding give us a call before buying, as we feel sure that we can sell them a better grade of Phosphate for less money than they can buy from Agents of other brands. We have had many years experience and are prepared to furnish the best grades of either Bone or Phosphate at the very lowest possible prices.

WE are told that the G. A. R. encampment at East Berlin proved a gratifying success, with a large attendance on Saturday and Sunday.

THE last cotillion pic-nic of the season to be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, at Strausbaugh's school-house, in Buchanan Valley. Come one and all. J. F. DOME. 1*

SEVERAL neighboring journals state that Gettysburg is to have a Fireman's demonstration on the first of October. It is news here.

PIC-NIC.—There will be the last picnic at Wilson's woods on Saturday, October 2d. 1t

CHILDREN'S DAY, in the Reformed church, on Sunday morning, had a new arrangement of decorations that made it the success of the season.

JUST RECEIVED—a large stock of Horse Blankets, Lap Robes, &c., of all kinds and at all prices at W. D. McSherry's, Chambersburg street. s28,tf

MR. JOHN TSCHOP, of Freedom township, reports a raspberry vine that started last spring and grew up into a tree and then took a downward course and is now near the ground, the length of growth during the season being 21 feet.

REV. DR. CRAWFORD has resigned the pastorship of the Falling Spring Presbyterian church at Chambersburg. He is a brother of General S. W. Crawford.

MANAGER THOMAS has already fixed upon a date for holding next year's Grangers' picnic. It will be held at the usual place, Williams' Grove, on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 29th, 30th and 31st, and Sept. 1st, 2nd and 3rd.

THE Waynesboro' Record says Dr. Geo. G. Shively, druggist, on the Square, has now one of the finest business rooms in the county. It has a depth of fifty feet.

THE weather, at present, is highly favorable for paying taxes. In order to obtain a vote this should be attended to before the 2d of October.

A PRIZE FIGHT is reported to have taken place quite recently at York between a bruiser of that place and a man from Littlestown, the latter being second best in the encounter.

KEEPING CIDER.—As I never saw my way of keeping cider in print, I will give it to your readers. Take cider freshly made and boil and skim as long as anything comes to the top, but don't boil more than fifteen minutes; then bottle hot and cork, but not seal. It will keep as long as one wants it to keep, and is better than when first made. I have some now made last fall, and a friend tells me it is delicious, and will not hurt even a lover of the temperance cause.
Mrs. J. R. M.

CURE FOR HOG CHOLERA.—For the benefit of our farmers, we copy the following from the Baltimore county Union: A gentleman who lost 12 head of hogs last fall was advised to use the following recipe, and he says that it checked the disease, none dying for him thereafter. It is as follows: 5 cents worth of copperas and 5 cents worth of brimstone mixed in one quart of hickory ashes. One tablespoonful per hog twice a day; for a sick hog double the dose. Mix in mill feed.

COL. MCCLELLAN'S running horse Armadale has scored another victory; this time at the Perry County Fair, Newport, Thursday, beating the bay mare of Calvin Bretz, of Bedford, and making the mile dash in 1:47.

Armadale will run at Carlisle to day and to morrow.

SALES.—The David Ziegler property, dwelling and store, on Baltimore street, was sold at public outcry on Saturday; Judge William McClean purchaser at $3,815.

Henry Sanders has sold his property in New Oxford to John Stouffer, late of Minnesota, for $1,700. Mr. Sanders and his son Harry will open a hardware store in the Warner building, Gettysburg, on or about the 19th of October, says the Item.

MAMMOTHS.—Mr. N. Miller places upon our table two mammoth apples, (King of Tompkins County,) one from Mr. E. G. Trostle, of Highland township, measuring 13 by 13½ inches in circumference, and weighing 1 lb. 2½ oz. The other from Mr. Alfred Deardorff, of Cumberland township, measuring 13½ by 14 inches, and weighing 1 lb. 2½ oz. Can they be beaten?

REVENUE ARREST.—Deputy Revenue Collector Etter, of Chambersburg, on Wednesday took to Harrisburg Jacob Trego, of Willow Grove Hotel, two miles above Cashtown, this county, on the charge of selling liquor and cigars without license. He was given a hearing by Deputy Wolf, who directed him to give security in $500 for his appearance before the United States Court at Philadelphia in November, which he did and returned home.

NAME CHANGED.—The name of Bigler post office, on the Gettysburg and Harrisburg Railroad, has been changed, at the request of the Post office Department to that of Biglerville, on account of its becoming mixed up with Bigler Station in Clearfield county, and letters being miscarried in consequence. Hereafter it is to be Biglerville post office.

CARP.—Mr. Philip D. Weaver, residing near Centre Mills, this county, has expended a good deal of time and labor in preparing suitable ponds for the hatching and rearing of German carp. He started a few years ago with twenty young fish, just hatched, and after some bad luck, has succeeded well enough to enable him to offer carp for stocking other ponds or waters this fall and the coming spring. He has two ponds covering an acre and a half, with banks nicely sodded and shaded, and two smaller, one used exclusively for hatching the spawn.

Mr. Weaver has given the subject close attention, and has verified by practical observation many points laid down in the books. His opportunities for understanding the carp are now as good as the best, and the intelligent care he is giving the business must place him among the authorities to be consulted.

DR. W. J. KASTEN, of Boiling Springs, assisted by Dr. S. B. Kieffer, last week performed a successful operation in the removal of an eye from Mr. Peifer, and it promises favorable results. Dr. Kasten was in the '85 class of Pennsylvania College, but left at the end of the Junior year, and afterwards graduated at the University of Maryland.

SNAKE EGGS.—Mr. Franklin Osborne plowed up, on his Mountain View farm, in Butler township, a nest of 20 snake eggs, supposed to be copperhead, just ready to come out, eight or ten inches long and thick as a rye straw. Each filled the shell full as the embryo chicken does.

EXCURSIONS.—An excursion under the auspices of the Red Men at Pikesville, Md., to Gettysburg, on Wednesday, embraced over 200 people, accompanied by a band. The Red Men made headquarters in the Wigwam of Cayugas Tribe, Eckert building, and the excursionists generally took dinner at the Globe Inn.

A special car from York on Saturday brought twenty-three visitors to the battlefield, over the Hanover road.

THE Sovereign Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows has determined to remove the headquarters of that order from Baltimore to Columbus, Ohio.

THE Republican convention of York county on Tuesday nominated a straight ticket of Republicans, as follows: Senate, John Bair; Assembly, Samuel C. Ilgenfritz, W. W. Moore, L. M. Herman, Abraham Sutton; District Attorney, Richard E. Cochran; Register, D. Hildebrandt; Sheriff, Wm. B. Young; Director, Henry Hoff; Surveyor, George Ensinger. No nomination for Congress, but conferees appointed.

EVERY citizen who changes his residence—removes from one borough or township to another, between now and the 2d day of November, loses his vote—voluntarily disfranchises himself. The Constitution requires every voter to reside at least sixty days in the election district where he offers to vote.

SMALL oysters are now in demand in New York, where large ones used to be the favorites. Saddle rocks, the biggest of oysters, which used to command $20 to $30 per 1,000, now sell for $15 or less.

MCCONNELLSBURG is to have its centennial celebration next Thursday: grand parade, ox-roast, tournament, balloon ascension, fire works, and a display of relics and ladies' work in the court-house.

THE Daily Herald has appeared at Carlisle. It is a four-page, seven-column paper, clearly printed, and Republican in politics. If there is field enough for the new venture the Herald people evidently mean to find it.

THIS time it is "oil in York county"—found in Manchester township—only two miles from York—on the farm of C. B. Pfaltzgroff; and "heavy oil" at that.

JUST bear in mind, gentle reader, that you cannot vote unless you pay your poll tax, which, in other words, means state county tax, before or on Saturday next, October 2d. Don't neglect it; don't put it off!

TWO valuable barns were burned near Womelsdorf, Berks county, on Friday. Whilst setting fire to the last, a tramp named "Dutch Jake" was caught in the act, and he is now in Reading jail.

FORTY FIVE persons were killed by a mine explosion in Germany on Friday.

THE President, Secretary and Cashier of Kaw Valley Life Insurance Association, of Kansas City, have disappeared and the books with them.

NEXT SATURDAY, Oct. 2, is the last day for paying taxes to secure the right to vote. It is not the course of wisdom, however, to wait until the last day.

AT Potter's Hill Pa., last week, Hiram Gooding was stung by a hornet in a nerve at the base of the brain; he became entirely paralyzed and died in great agony soon after.

THE STATE ELECTION.—General election day in Pennsylvania this year will be Tuesday, November 2. There will be elected a Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Auditor General, Secretary of Internal Affairs, twenty-eight Members of Congress, one at large and one in each of the twenty-seven districts, twenty-five State Senators to represent the even-numbered districts, and 201 members of the lower house of the Legislature. The newly-elected Legislature, which meets in January, will choose a successor to United States Senator Mitchell, and Boss Quay, who runs the Republican machine, will work his ropes to get it if he can. The good name of the State demands a Democrat and the election of Democrats to the Senate and House at Harrisburg wherever it is possible.

ARENDTSVILLE ITEMS.—Corn cutting, making cider, picking apples, and seeding corn stubble ground, the order of the day.

Visitors: Mr. Augustus Fahnestock and wife, Mr. Adam Nicholas and wife, and Mrs. Elizabeth Henneberger, all of Chambersburg, were guests of Jacob Lady. They also visited the Battlefield. Ed. Rev. J. W. Byers, pastor of the First Lutheran church at Upper Sandusky, Ohio, was married Sept. 11th to Miss Ida M. Stoll, and they are visiting his parents near Kingsdale.

George Stine, while digging a well for Jonas Sterner, at Kingsdale, was overcome by gas, calling for assistance; he was taken out and, in some unaccountable way, had his arm broken.

Lewis Weisner, of near Two Taverns, while fixing something at Jonas Shanabrough's steam thresher, had the flesh torn off of his arm by being caught in one of the cogwheels.

Col. E. Myers is enclosing his yard, on Baltimore street, with a neat iron railing.

Farmers are busy seeding wheat and cutting off corn.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be celebrated in St. Paul's church next Sunday morning, and at St. John's in the German language, and also at St. Luke's near Bonneauville.

Sept. 27 1886. EAGLE-EYE.

Two thousand cattle afflicted with pleuro-pneumonia, quarantined at two distilleries in Chicago, are to be killed to stamp out the disease, the appraised price for government to pay being $33 per head.

EIGHT convicts were whipped at New Castle, Delaware, on Saturday, receiving from five to one hundred lashes.

INCREASE OF PENSIONS.—The Pension Office is engaged in preparing the rolls for the increased payment to those men who have lost an arm or leg at the shoulder joint or hip joint, as provided by the act of August 4. These payments will be made to the pensioners without any trouble or expense on their part. All the office asks is a little time to prepare new entries on the rolls. The act referred to provides for an increase of from $24 to $30, from $30 to $36, and from $37.50 to $45 per month. The increase will be shown in the December payment.

DR. GEORGE G. GREEN, of Woodbury, N. J., who has made over $1,000,000 out of the manufacture and sale of patent medicines, was at the Fifth Avenue Tuesday morning. For the last two years Dr. Green has not been advertising his medicines in the newspapers, but instead has been advertising by means of almanacs and on country fences. "As a result," he said, "I find that I have lost some of my business. I have tried every way and find that the most profitable of all is newspaper advertising, so I will return to it. This year I shall spend $300,000 in advertising."—N. Y. Star.

THOMAS GARRETT, of Baldwin county, Ala., who recently registered in order to vote for Gov. Seay, will be 119 years old at his next birthday. He cast his first vote for John Adams in the fall of 1796. He was born in Maryland on August 15, 1767, and lived in that State until he was eight years old. Since then he has lived in North Carolina seventeen years, Georgia two years, Florida thirty years, and Alabama sixty-two years. He has lived in Baldwin county for nine years. He is the father of twenty-one children.

THE York Match Factory, to meet orders, must enlarge to turn out 400 instead of 200 gross per day.

DR. SMITH BUTTERMORE, of Fayette county, the ex-Assemblymen convicted of an attempt to defraud the State out of $12,500 for a bogus hospital at Connellsville, was sentenced on Wednesday to pay a fine of $500, costs of prosecution and be imprisoned in the county jail for sixty days. His co-conspirators, Jesse Smith and W. J. Harding, did not desire a new trial, which was refused Buttermore, and they were sentenced to an hour's imprisonment and a heavy fine some months ago. Buttermore looked very bad when in court. Judge Simonton prefaced the sentence with a few remarks, in which he stated his approval of the finding of the jury and his disbelief in the guilty intent of the prisoner. He thought, however, the sentence should be such as would emphasize the danger of tampering with public moneys.

THE Democratic party of York county is a happy and united one, and they will go into the November battle united and gain a great and magnificent victory.—York Age.

IT begins to look as if Col. A. Wilson Norris had been captured at the last battle of Gettysburg.—Patriot.

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE.—Col. H. J. Deal, a leading citizen of Charleston, Missouri, is a native of New Oxford, this county. The following, from the Charleston (Mo.) Enterprise, will therefore have interest for not a few of our readers:

Thursday afternoon last, while Col. H. J. Deal, of this city, mounted on his fine black stallion, was riding through a dense lot of high weeds near Black Bayou, in the lower end of this county, his horse suddenly sank into an old well several feet below the surface of the ground. As the animal was going down, the Colonel grasped a piece of curbing, but his great weight caused the plank to give way almost instantly and precipitate him still deeper. In this second fall, the Colonel fortunately caught hold of something more solid, and by a desperate effort succeeded in reaching the top of the well and saving himself from a most horrible death and burial.

The horse sank down until his head was six or eight feet below the surface of the ground. After remaining thus for a few moments, he made a plunge to extricate himself, only to sink deeper. He then made a second and desperate plunge, and sank to the bottom of the well—a distance of twenty or twenty-five feet from the top. Col. Deal summoned a party of men and all set to work at once to rescue the animal. They dug a trench to the depth of the well and reached the horse, but life was extinct.

The Colonel has had several narrow escapes while out riding or driving fiery horses, but this last one came nearer ending his existence than any of the preceding ones, and will doubtless ever be remembered by him as the most thrilling adventure of his life.

HURLED TO DEATH.—On Sunday morning at Poquonnock, Connecticut, Benjamin Gardiner, a farmer, his wife, and the wife of their son James, while riding home from church were struck by the express train going at the rate of 50 miles an hour. Mr. Gardiner was hurled a distance of 40 feet, receiving fatal injuries. His wife was killed outright and Mrs. James Gardiner died before she could be removed. The horse was killed and the wagon broken into splinters.

RICHARD CHANEY, residing in the fourth district of Anne Arundel, Md., while gunning several days ago, killed a squirrel and threw it across his back. Sam. Anderson, who was also with him hunting, mistook Chaney's back for a tree with a squirrel on it, and blazed away. He was surprised later to learn that the entire load of shot had taken effect in Chaney's face, neck and shoulders. Fortunately no serious damage was done.

PATSEY COLLINS, while shoveling grain in the top of a big Niagara Falls flouring mill, fell into the hopper, slid for 80 feet through a spout 8 by 10 inches in size, and shot out unhurt, with six tons of grain, into a car standing on the track below.

ACCIDENT.—On Monday, near Bragtown, whilst Henry Ortmyer was mowing second crop with a reaper and when in the act of crossing a gutter, one wheel going into the gutter, threw him off into the cutter bar, his left arm receiving an ugly gash into the bone between the elbow and wrist. The thumb and index finger of his right hand were also badly cut. Dr. Baker dressed the wounds.—Record.

A NEW ENEMY.—A peculiar appearing black bug has made its appearance on some of the corn in this vicinity, spreading consternation among the farmers. An ear sent in by Mr. James R. Neely had on it some five or six, about as large as the end of a finger, which had already gotten away with about one-quarter of the grains. What next?—Comet.

SECTION 94, of the Act of the 18th of March, 1875, provides for the recording of deeds for real estate within six months after their execution, "and every such deed and conveyance that shall at any time be made and executed, and shall not be proved and recorded in the office for the recording of deeds, shall be adjudged fraudulent and void against any subsequent purchaser or mortgagee for valuable consideration, unless such deed or conveyance be recorded as aforesaid before the proving and recording of the deed or conveyance under which such subsequent purchaser or mortgagee shall claim." It is surprising how careless property owners sometimes become in regard to their title deeds. They are subject to loss by fire, theft and in many other ways, and last but not least to fraudulent practices as mentioned in the section quoted. There is only one safe course in this matter: Have your deeds recorded at once! When it is done, the feeling of security will far more than compensate for the few dollars invested in the recording as the law contemplates and directs. 7,4t

A GENTLE STIMULUS is imparted to the kidneys and bladder by Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is most useful in overcoming torpidity of these organs. Besides infusing more activity into them, this excellent tonic endows them with additional vigor, and enables them the better to undergo the wear and tear of the discharging function imposed upon them by nature. Moreover, as they are the channel for the escape of certain impurities from the blood, increases their usefulness by strengthening and healthfully stimulating them. In certain morbid conditions of these important organs, they fall into a sluggish state, which is the usual precursor of disease. What then can be of greater service than a medicine which impels them to greater activity when slothful? No maladies are more perilous than those which affect the kidneys, and a medicine which averts the peril should be highly esteemed.

DEATHS.

Deaths Free—Tributes, verses, &c., 5 Cents a Line

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. FRANK DOLL, a well-known and highly esteemed young man, aged 20 years 11 months and 2 days, son of Mr. G. Joseph Doll, died at his father's residence, West Second street, between the hours of 5 and 6 o'clock Thursday morning, after an acute illness, of a few days only, of Bright's disease. His sudden death caused a shock to almost the entire community. Up to about Monday last he was engaged in his father's store, and was apparently in as good health as ever. He attended Gettysburg College a year or two ago, and was a young man of good habits, genial disposition, and of much promise.—Frederick Citizen. Free from all pain and care.

On Wednesday last, in Buchanan Valley, of typhoid fever, Mr. JOSEPH DILLON, aged about 60 years. His wife, carried off by the same disease, was buried on Tuesday.

On Wednesday last, in Cumberland county, Mr. HENRY BUSHMAN, a native of this county and brother of Mr. George Bushman, aged 85 years and 4 months.

On Wednesday last, at Holyoke, Mass., EDWARD M. SNYDER, son of the late Joseph R. Snyder, deceased, of Cumberland township, aged 18 years 7 months and 13 days. The remains were interred in the new Catholic Cemetery, Gettysburg, on Saturday morning.

September 16, at his residence, in Eyler's Valley, Mr. BENJAMIN EYLER, aged 68 years and 8 months.

Communicated.—On the 21st inst., in Highland township, Mrs. MARY ADELINE HARBAUGH, wife of Aaron L. Harbaugh, aged 21 years 5 months and 14 days.

Dear Addie, she had to go
Out of this world of sin and woe;
She was so lovely and so dear
We could not keep her presence here.

We mourn, dear Lord, that she has died,
But since 'tis so we're satisfied;
For she could not be led astray
By false professors of the day.

Now to weep for her is all in vain,
For she cannot return again;
For she's gone to mansions in the sky
To praise her God, who rules on high.

Thus God has led her by the hand
Unto the Shepherd of the lambs;
Where she surrounds the throne of love
With angels in the home above. H.*

SHORT-HORN CATTLE.

The American Herd-book for Short-horn Cattle was founded by Lewis F. Allen in 1846; continued through 24 successive volumes, and contains the pedigrees of more than 125,000 animals of both sexes.

In 1883 the book was transferred, or rather sold, to the Short-horn Breeders' Association, located at Chicago, where it has been continued.

In August, 1885, there were 72,271 bulls and a much larger number of cows recorded with thoroughbred pedigrees.

There are over 4,000 breeders of Short horn cattle in the States, Territories and Canada, in North America.

The demand for Short-horn cattle is chiefly in the west, on account of their flesh-producing qualities, and exceed that of all other breeds.

Short horn produce superior beef; when not over fatted the flesh is distributed all over the carcass, finely marbled, in combination of fat and lean.

As veal calves "they mature to profitable slaughter at 6 to 8 weeks."

The steers when properly fed attain a live weight of 1,500 to 1,600 pounds at 2½ years.

At 3 years they draw 3,000, after which time longer feeding is unprofitable. This is about what Mr. Allen says, and he ought to know. O.

SEED AND FODDER CORN.—The corn crop will be ready for harvest soon, and before it is harvested the seed ears should be selected and marked, so that they can be saved when the husking is done. By selecting the ears which ripen earliest the ensuing crop will ripen a few days earlier. If the ears next the ground are chosen the habit of growing ears near the bottom of the stalk may be perpetuated, and if selected from stalks which bear two ears it will be found that in future years there will be a tendency to increase the number of double bearing stalks. Just so with other peculiarities, such as covering the tip of the ear with grain, growing long ears or growing the kernals in even rows.

Who can imagine anything more desirable than a field of corn where there are two long ears to the stalk, well tipped over and with the kernels evenly set, well growing and ripening before the frosts come? And such a field can be obtained by a selection of seed for a number of years if the same system is followed out. Probably many of our other grains might be much improved by such a system of selecting seed, and although it would not be possible perhaps so select the seed for a large field of wheat in that way, yet if for a few years a quart or so of seed were taken from the largest and best filled ears and sown separately, and the best saved from that until the improvement had become fixed it would result in a vast gain to the wheat crop.

FATTENING CATTLE AND HOGS.—Now is the time to begin to give extra feed to all the animals that are to be fattened this fall. A bushel of corn will make more beef or pork this month and next than five pecks would produce in November or December. The cows and sheep should be looked over and such as are not profitable to be kept another winter, either by reason of old age or any other cause, should have extra grain rations and be fitted for the butcher. There should be some soft corn from the field that will be worth more to feed out to such animals now than it will be later in the season. Crowd the feed to the hogs as much as they can be made to eat. If the pork is to be sold before salting it will usually bring the best prices if killed early before the pork comes in from the West to compete with it in the market. The chickens and turkeys should also have all they can eat now, that they may be well fattened before Thanksgiving. A little extra feed now will do much to induce the early pullets to begin to lay before cold weather.

WEEDS AND TRAVELING THRESHING MACHINES.—Weed seeds are often carried from one farm to another by machines that do the threshing of a neighborhood. A farmer who has carefully kept his land clean will scrutinize a separator pretty closely to see that all straw or weeds are removed from it before allowing it in his barn. Weeds distributed in the manure appear unaccountably after their source has been forgotten and are generally not found until they have themselves ripened their seed.

FRUIT BUCKWHEATS.—Add a quart of tender apples, pared and sliced, or halves of pears or peaches (pears are better stewed), to a pitcher of batter made as for ordinary buckwheat cakes. Cook on a griddle, and eat with maple syrup or a liquid sauce.

Wheat griddle-cakes, made with fresh buttermilk and soda, may be substituted; or, still more delicate, rice or hominy cakes, in which two or three eggs are used with sweet milk and a little flour.

BROWN BETTY.—Made of alternate layers of bread crumbs and sliced tomatoes, is excellent, and makes a delicious supper dish with sugar and cream. Put bits of butter over the bread, and salt and a pinch of sugar upon the tomatoes, making the last layer of bread crumbs and browning it nicely. An hour is not too long to allow for baking in a moderate oven. DOROTHY.

A PARKE county, Ind., farmer is quoted by the Indianapolis Journal as saying: "A young lady who was watching my harvester at work fell upon the table and was carried up with the grain. As the girl was about the size of a bundle, the machine did not recognize the difference, and so she came through with a neat little string around her waist. One of the harvest hands caught her as the machine sent her out, and set her on the ground right side up, when it was found that she had been more frightened than hurt."

A PAPER from Tacoma says, in illustration of the queer things woman suffrage is responsible for, that "in Lincoln county Frank M. Gray, editor of the Davenport Times, who was a member of the Territorial Republican Convention, is a Republican for the Legislature, while Mrs. Gray, his wife, and associate editor, is a candidate on the Democratic ticket for School Superintendent."

THERE is another feature to the Swiss hotel which is altogether peculiar to itself. If you are so imprudent as to die in one of them, the corpse is charged 250 francs, or $50. This is called "the indemnity fee."

NATURAL GAS was reached in Clinton, Ill., at a distance of 27 feet. A light was applied to the gas and several persons were severely burned.

A MILL at Harlan, Mich., was shut down because a 50-pound catfish got into the race and closed the gates, thus stopping the water supply.

THE beauty of the body is for a day, but the beauty of the soul is for eternity.

USE OF THE ROLLER.

EDS. COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.—In 1851 I began investigating the different plans pursued by the most intelligent farmers both of England and this country in the cultivation of wheat, found England far in advance of America in the average yield per acre, and the plan of preparing the land to be that of making it as fine and solid as possible; while most of the farmers in our country that I know, advocated rough tillage and contended that the clods protected the wheat in winter, and as the alternate freezing and thawing in the spring reduced them to fine earth, the wheat roots that the frost had thrown out of the ground were re-covered; and upon the introduction of the drill, as it became necessary to have the land better prepared, so as to furnish sufficient fine earth to cover the seed as the drill hoes passed through the ground; it was claimed that the ridge drawn up between the hoes would accomplish the same result in protecting the wheat from winter-killing, as was accomplished by the clods when the drill was not used.

Now this clod and ridge notion is all theory. As the English farmer did years since, is the proper plan of preparing the land now—make the seed bed as fine as possible. My plan is to have the land well plowed as early in the summer as possible, with the best plows I can procure; then harrow and roll, or roll and harrow, until I have a fine and compact seed bed, and to give increased fineness and to prevent the drill hoes going too deep, I invariably roll in advance of the drill, and as the drill hoes passing through the ground draw up a ridge of very fine earth between them, I roll after the drill to make the surface equally as compact as that portion of the seed-bed under the seed.

I have followed the plan of harrowing and rolling in the preparation of my land for wheat for so many years, and find my crops so much in excess of those cultivated without the use of the roller, that I regard the roller an indispensable implement on any farm, and when it pays best is in rolling after planting. It prevents winter-killing by causing the wheat roots to grow down instead of on the surface. It causes retention of the moisture that is in the land, and prevents the absorbtion of an excess from frequent rains. It causes the grain to sprout and grow off promptly even in a drouth. If fines and firms the soil, but does not bake it or cause a crust to form, unless a heavy beating rain falls before the spire reaches the surface, and then to no greater extent than would occur if the soil were made equally as fine by any other process. There was not a farmer in this county who rolled after seeding, previous to my locating here; I know of but three in my neighborhood who failed to roll last fall. Their wheat was badly winter-killed; they made about ten bushels per acre, while one of their nearest neighbors upon the same kind of land, but who rolled after seeding, made 18 1-7 bushels per acre. They all tried to prepare their land equally as well. The roller is the only implement I have ever seen that will enable the farmer to make a perfect seed-bed. The vertical tooth-harrow will allow the small clods to pass between its teeth an indefinite number of times, and if the land is hard, the Acme harrow passes over them, and every other harrow I know of. The harrow to draw the clods to the surface, and the roller to crush them will accomplish a perfect seed-bed, if repeated a sufficient number of times, and I know of no other implements that will.

I roll after planting every crop (unless rain falls to prevent it), as it is all important to have the fine soil pressed close to the seed, if prompt germination and quick growth is desired. My crops of all kinds have increased each year, and my land is now well set in clover; I am now cutting over 100 acres for seed. That which was seeded last spring upon my wheat, both fallow and corn ground, is unusually fine; it is very thick, and over two feet high. It is seldom a beating rain falls in autumn, just after seeding wheat, and when it occurs in the spring, after planting other crops, I have the smoothing harrow run over the land when it becomes dry enough, whether rolled after planting or not. It is very easy for your readers to test this matter, and demonstrate for themselves the advantages or disadvantages of the use of the roller, remembering not to roll when the land is wet. If they will roll a narrow strip immediately after seeding their wheat, and the wheat does not come up more promptly and grow off more vigorously than when the land is unrolled (unless a heavy rain should fall just after rolling), their experience will be different from mine, after a long series of years of most careful experiments. Should rain fall just after rolling, the wheat will be delayed in getting through the surface a short time, but the crop will still be better from the rolling, as the protection from winter killing is the same.

A corrugated roller is very good to crush clods, but I should fear that, used after seeding, the V-shaped teeth or discs would, in making so many small holes, cause the retention of too much water near the surface, and if these holes became filled by the earth drifting into them, the wheat would be covered too deep, as from one to one and a half inches has been proved to be the most desirable depth for wheat to be planted.

DOW AND BLAINE IN MAINE.—In Portland, Maine, the other day, Gen. Neal Dow said to a reporter that Mr. Blaine, in his Dover speech, as in every other delivered by him during the present campaign, misses entirely the points made by Prohibitionists whose quarrel with the Republicans is not as to the latter's doings in the past but as to what they refuse to do now. For the past 21 years no progress has been made in extinguishing the liquor traffic in Maine. Republican officials ignore the law and Republican legislatures refuse to make it effective. The keepers of Portland's hundred groggeries, although often up before Republican judges, are permitted to escape unharmed and without impediment to a continued violation of the law. The ground of quarrel is missed not only by Mr. Blaine, but also by all other Republican orators.

A GREAT boulder, known as Bald Rock, which overhung a hill in Jackson county, W. Va., was loosened by the recent earthquake shock, and crashing down the hill, swept away the cabin home of Leslie Cummings, who with his wife and two children were asleep. A boy was killed and a hired man hurt. The stable was also demolished and several animals killed.

ONE Dolph of Mansfield, O., while going after his cows, recently, was bound by four men, who threw a rope about his neck and pulled him over stones and bushes. They afterward tarred and feathered him, beating him terribly with sticks. The neighbors charged Dolph with circulating scandalous reports. Twelve farmers have been sued by the persecuted man for $20,000 damages.

Scrofula

Is one of the most fatal scourges which afflict mankind. It is often inherited, but may be the result of improper vaccination, mercurial poison, uncleanliness, and various other causes. Chronic Sores, Ulcers, Abscesses, Cancerous Humors, and, in some cases, Emaciation and Consumption, result from a scrofulous condition of the blood. This disease can be cured by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

I inherited a scrofulous condition of the blood, which caused a derangement of my whole system. After taking less than four bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla I am and, for the past year, have not found it necessary to use any medicine whatever. I am now in better health, and stronger, than ever before.—O. A. Willard, 218 Tremont st., Boston, Mass.

I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores for five years; but, after using a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the sores healed, and I have now good health.—Elizabeth Warnock, 54 Appleton street, Lowell, Mass.

Some months ago I was troubled with Scrofulous Sores on my leg. The limb was badly swollen and inflamed, and the sores discharged large quantities of offensive matter. Every remedy failed until I used Ayer's Sarsaparilla. By taking three bottles of this medicine the sores have been healed, and my health is restored. I am grateful for the good it has done me.—Mrs. Ann O'Brian, 158 Sullivan st., New York.

POSITIVE PROOFS.

In other advertisements we have said that the Russian Rheumatism Cure was a specific for Rheumatism, and all its attendant aches and pains. These are simply Plain Facts. We now present some Positive Proofs:

Could one ask anything more to the point than this from MR. H. EMANUEL, a prominent merchant of Brookfield, Mo., who writes Feb. 26, '86:

"When in Europe, two years ago, I tried hard to buy the receipt of this very remedy. I also told Col. Theobald to get it for me at almost any price; but neither of us succeeded. I, myself, suffered with Rheumatism for years and spent hundreds of dollars, but never got any permanent relief until I tried this. Since then, (over two years now) I have not suffered the least. I know it is a good thing. It will take like wildfire. Now I want the agency for five States."

Here is another from nearer home. MR. J. D. WHITE is a leading business man of Bloomsburg Pa. His grandfather, over 80 years old, has been a great sufferer from Rheumatism. Nov. 24, 1885, all Mr. White wrote us:

"Have read your circular. The country is so full of patent humbugs that it is hard to make people believe any remedy is good until it is tried. My grandfather remarked after that he would gladly give for a single dose for my ten times your price for a cure. He will try it any way, because he don't think your house would keep anything without merit."

Dec. 21, he says: "My grandfather pronounces the Russian Rheumatism Cure a first-class success. He is not relieved one day only, but altogether."

If you doubt either of these statements, write the parties; they'll gladly answer any inquiry. Our space does not permit further testimony. We have plenty of it, however. It makes quite a little book. We send it free to all who ask.

As yet it is not to be found at the stores, but can only be had by enclosing the price, and addressing the American proprietors,
